A Special Appeal.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN:—To the men who stay away from the Dr.

Chapman meetings: Let me say this, go and hear him even once and you will have a better conception of Christ and of true christianity, a broader and sweeter view of the spiritual world. Dr.

Chapman is different from the revivalists we have hitherto had in Decatur. There is no brow beating, no stentorian vehemence, nor any oily platitudes, which distinguish so many revivals. He stands before us a Christ-like man—a man of gentle birth, admirably educated, and with a voice soft but penetrating. His intelligence is quick, sure and masterful, and we see the unmistakable merit of simplicity, of personal devotion burning with sanctified love for the souls of all men. In all his sermons his solemnity of purpose manifests itself, and we feel he is consciously exercising ambassadorial functions between the seen and unseen, the spiritual world and this mortal life. He leaves us this week. Let the people who have been kept away before by prejudice, by cowardice and hardness of heart, keep away no longer, but hear

THE LAW MUST BE OBEYED

Even if the Militia Has to be Called Into Active Service.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., March 18.—Yesterday afternoon and evening a conference was held in the Palace hotel at which about fifty people were present.

C. G. Haskins, president of the Bi-metabolic bank, occupied the chair.

The militia was represented by Adj.

Gen. Tarsney and Col. E. J. Brooks.

The sentiment of all the speakers was in favor of a military movement against the organization that seems now to have some further object than the question of eight hours.

Gen. Tarsney said that the laws of the state had been violated in various ways by mob interference and resistance to arrest; that the orders of the court enjoining the miners from interference with workmen willing to labor in the mines with the terms of the company had been disobeyed, and that deputy sheriffs had been assaulted on Thursday night and some of them had been wounded.

All of these matters were thoroughly reviewed and it was the unanimous expression that the sheriff must be sustained in the performance of his duties, and that the military powers of the state shall take immediate steps to see that the sheriff is assisted in his work.

This means that an early show of force shall be made. The militia will be augmented by hundreds of deputies that have been sworn in during the past week.

When the movement will be made is uncertain, but it is intimated by Col.

Brooks that there will be no haste.

The town was quiet when the militia came in at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. They had halted out of town in the early morning for a short rest. They were housed by some miners in their passage through the streets to their camping place below the Palace hotel. They number about 300 and present a good appearance.

At a late hour Saturday night the sheriff and a posse quickly effected the arrest of Mayor Martin Dean of Altmar, and John Calderwood, president of the Miners' union, upon the charge of resistance and assault. Yesterday morning the news of this arrest stirred up the miners on the hill, and they flocked over to Altmar to discuss the situation.

They are well armed and have the great advantage of position. It will be difficult if not impossible to move the artillery up the steep rounded sides of the hills covered with underground of shrubs and trees, the only roads being burro trails. The programme will be to attempt to gain possession of the mines that are working and then protect the workmen from the violence of the miners.

A BLOODY FIGHT

Between a Squad of New York Metropolitan Police

AND A MOB OF DESPERATE ITALIANS.

Several on Both Sides Seriously Injured, and Sixty of the Rioters Arrested—Police Billies and Italians' Heads Broken.

New York, March 19.—A mob of Italians and a squad of police had a hand-to-hand fight just before dark last evening at the corner of First avenue and One Hundred and Thirteenth street. Blood flowed freely and two of the policemen were killed on the spot, while two of the Italians are in the hospital and many others have bandaged heads. Sixty prisoners were captured and are now locked up in the East One Hundred and Fourth-street station house.

The cause of the trouble was the crash-shooting of a lot of Italian boys who infest the greater part of the uptown "Little Italy." The boys were especially troublesome yesterday afternoon and citizens complained to the police about the disorder they created there. Sergeant Norton then detailed Policemen Moffet, Johnson and Garvey to go out in civilian dress and arrest the offenders. The men made their way to East One Hundred and Thirteenth street and First avenue and proceeded to arrest two youngsters.
As the men were not in uniform their purpose in being on the block was not suspected until they laid hands on the boys.
The moment they did so, however, the Italians who were loitering about saw there was trouble in store for the boys and Vincenzo Bianco, a big Italian, made a set for Moffet and knocked him down. In an instant Bianco was joined by others who jumped on Garvey and Johnson. The policemen fought hard and were repeatedly felled with stones and bricks. They were fighting, however, against ever-increasing odds, and were forced to retire and hurry back to the station-house for assistance. In the meantime the boys they had arrested escaped.

At the stationhouse Sergt. Norton had been informed of the riot by a citizen, and he had just started out with a squad of reserves numbering twenty-four men as the wounded policemen returned from the fight.

Moffet and Garvey were too badly used up to enter the conflict again.
Johnson, who had escaped with comparatively slight injuries, returned with the reserves to help identify the rioters. The squad did a double-quick over to First avenue, and then took cars to One Hundred and Thirteenth street. There the mob was waiting for them, and a free fight began. Several pistol shots were fired by the rioters, and bricks and stones and clubs were brought into play. The police did not spare their efforts in telling blows with their short sticks, and the rioters fell to the pavement thick and fast.

Meantime, the most intense excitement prevailed in the entire neighborhood. The windows in the tenement houses on either side of the street were filled with women, who urged on the men with their cries.

But the police succeeded in getting the best of the fight after a few minutes and arrested forty persons, whom they took to the station house. Then they went back to the scene and took twenty more, making a total of sixty in all.

When searched ten partly loaded revolvers were found upon the prisoners and nearly twice as many knives.
Several of the Italians required the services of an ambulance surgeon, and two, Nicola Bianco and Frank Comancho, were sent to the Harlem hospital.

Moffet and Garvey, the policemen who were so badly hurt that they were forced to ask for sick leave.

All the prisoners will be arraigned in the Harlem police court this morning. Several of the prisoners were found concealed in saloons, whose proprietors were arrested. In the conflict many of the "billies" which the police carried were broken.

Paris Artists With a Grievance.

Paris, March 18.—The Figaro prints a letter signed by several artists who exhibited pictures at the Chicago fair.
They complain that their pictures have not been returned, and express anxiety as to their safety, as in case of fire no indemnity could be obtained.
They hint that certain French officials, whose expenses are paid throughout their sojourn in the United States, are prolonging their stay for the sake of the profits. The artists say that some of these officials are traveling the whole length and breadth of America.

A Glump at Hawaiian Affairs.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 18.—Evert H. Scott has returned from Hawaii.
He says the people there worship President Dole. Marshal Wilson personally admitted to him that the queen's government could not have stood anyway, even without Stevens' alleged interference, and could not be restored and maintained except by the active intervention of the forces of the United States. When the talk of disarming occurred, arms enough to have fully equipped 1,800 men were safely hidden.

THE TESTIMONY OF MRS. BLACKBURN.

And Questions Asked by Counsel During Her Cross-Examination—Mrs. Blackburn's First Acquaintance with the Plaintiff.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The disclosure made of the line of defense Col. Breckinridge will adopt in regard to the testimony of Mrs. Julia C. Blackburn gives interest to many portions of the testimony of that lady under cross-examination, which at the time seemed to have no particular point or bearing on the case. Even the court seemed to share in this opinion, and at one part of the proceedings when Mr. Phil Thompson, Col. Breckinridge's leading counsel, was questioning Mrs. Blackburn in regard to the acquaintance of Charles Dudley Warner and the plaintiff, and Mr. Calderon Carlisle, for the plaintiff, objected. Justice Bradley remarked: "I have been surprised that this examination has gone so far as it has, because it is utterly immaterial." But it's connection with what has been considered a vital point in the case of the plaintiff becomes apparent in the light of the revelation of the policy of the defense. The peculiar point where this objection was raised where Mrs. Blackburn said that Col. Breckinridge called upon her, as he said, at the request of Miss Pollard, to remove an unfavorable impression which had been made upon Mrs. Blackburn's mind by a statement of Mrs. Fillette that "Miss Pollard was forward, taking undue liberties in the houses of her friends, having invited Charles Dudley Warner to her (Mrs. Fillette's) house without permission. Other portions of the cross-examination also become intelligible now. Col. Breckinridge's counsel elicited from Mrs. Blackburn that she had become acquainted with Miss Pollard two years previous to the now famous Good Friday interview in March, 1893, having been introduced by Mrs. Fillette.

To a further question Mrs. Blackburn said: "I extended to her the same protection that I would to any young woman alone in the city from my own state—Kentucky. There was only such a friendship as would exist between a woman of my age and a young girl like her."

Miss Pollard called frequently, Mrs. Blackburn said, and when Mr. Wilson objected to a question from Mr. Thompson as to whether Miss Pollard had assisted at her receptions, Mrs. Blackburn interposed: "It makes no difference," and answered in the affirmative, adding that she had on one occasion addressed the invitations for her.

In cross-examination it was also elicited that Mrs. Blackburn had gone to New York and invested some money in stock speculations with a man whom Miss Pollard had told her had made some money for her, all this occurring before the Good Friday interview. It is of course expected that the defense will elaborate on these points and will probably question Miss Pollard upon them when she takes the stand again to-day for further cross-examination.

A MARRIED WOMAN

Sues Tennie Claffin's Husband for Seduction and Breach-of-Promise.

LOVING, March 19.—The trial of the action brought by Mrs. Holland against Sir Francis Cook, the husband of Tennie Claffin, sister of Victoria Woodhull, for breach-of-promise and seduction, was begun in the court of Queen's bench Saturday. The plaintiff charges that Sir Francis Cook, under a promise of marriage, induced her to become intimate with him in his house at Richmond, the promise of marriage to be fulfilled when his wife should die. This, she says, occurred in 1870. She continued her relations with him, the promises being renewed from time to time, until in 1889, she found herself in a delicate condition. Sir Francis, she alleges, compelled her to undergo an operation, which, although successful, was almost fatal in its effects. In 1884 Lady Cook died and in 1885 Sir Francis, disregarding his promise to the plaintiff, married Tennie Claffin.

Sir Francis admits intimacy with the woman, but says he never promised to marry her and had no intention of doing so. He always paid for her favors and she invariably accepted the money.

Mrs. Holland, the complainant, was called to the witness box. Questioned in regard to the operation alleged to have been performed upon her, she said she was unable to recall whether she herself or Sir Francis Cook had suggested it. When asked concerning her means of livelihood since her marriage to her present husband, she said that her husband had done no work since his marriage to her and had had no money except what he obtained by applying from time to time to Sir Francis Cook in her behalf.

An Old Soldier's Last Drunk.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 19.—Charles Syers, an inmate of the Michigan soldier's home, was killed on the North Park railroad yesterday afternoon. He was returning from this city to the home in an intoxicated condition, walking on the track. He was struck by the engine, and both his legs were cut off and his head crushed. The coroner's inquest exonerated the conductor and the company.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Gen. Noble.

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—Mrs. Elizabeth Noble, wife of Gen. John W. Noble, ex-secretary of the interior under the Harrison administration, died suddenly at her residence, 9043 Pine street, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Her death is attributable to heart disease, an affection which caused the death of both of her parents.

CLOSE ON SUNDAY.

There has been an effort among our leading citizens, as well as among some of our clothing merchants, to have their respective places of business close on Sunday, but without success.

I have deemed it for the good of our community that all should be closed, and I hereby pledge myself, from and after Feb. 23, 1894, to close my place of business at 11 o'clock Saturday night until Monday morning, whether any one joins me in this move or not.

However, I shall ask all who wish to join me in this, to call at The Republican Office and place their names under the above. Respectfully,

GEO. W. JONES, Clothier.

Jumped Off a Train.

There was fun on Wabash train No. 45, bound for Quincy Saturday night. At Springfield the regular messenger for the Union News company left the train and his place was taken by Irving Prond, an extra messenger and a hanger on about the office, who sails under the cognomen of Jase. Near Jacksonville the first named party succeeded in "jumping" a passenger out of $5.00 by the old "flit-flum" game. The passenger soon discovered his loss and notified the train officer. An attempt was made to arrest Prond when he bolted into the closet and locked the door. Conductor O'Brien stationed train porter Patterson to guard against the fellow's escape intending to hard him over to the police at Jacksonville. Before that city was reached Prond crawled through a window and dropped to the ground. Although the train was running at a high rate of speed he escaped unhurt. His companion was carried to Quincy but was there ordered off the train. The matter was reported to the proper officials and Detecive Ballard will look into the matter. It is said that this is not the first offense of this kind committed by the Springfield officer and that institution will be looked after by the officials.

Col. R. G. Ingersoll.

When Henry Ward Beecher, standing on the steps of the sub treasury in Wall street, during the Garfield campaign, introduced Mr. Ingersoll to one of the most distinguished audiences ever addressed said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I have the pleasure and honor of presenting to you Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, who is the finest talker of the English language the world has ever seen"—when the distinguished Plymouth divine uttered these words, he spoke only the truth.
The announcement of Mr. Ingersoll's appearance in this city, Thursday March 22, will no doubt, cause a desire on the part of our citizens to obtain good places to hear him.

Ex-Mayor A. D. McHEENE, of Cinton, was in the city to-day on business

PETER JACKSON, ACTOR.

He Was at the Grand Saturday Night as "Uncle Tom."

The Grand was well filled Saturday evening, ostensibly to witness the time-worn play, "Uncle Tom," but really to see Peter Jackson, the noted colored pugilist, who is to go into the ring against Jim Corbett, to contest for the championship of the world. The company went through the scenes of the "Uncle Tom" play without a skip, except between the first and the second acts, when the deck was cleared for a three round outflag bout between Jackson and Choyneki. It was a tame exhibit, and those who had seen Corbett felt that when the Californian meets Jackson he will have fun with him, as he did with Sullivan and Mitchell. That was the way it looked to the people in the audience. It may be different in the ring. Jackson says he is ready to go against Corbett and when the date is fixed he will be in the ring. The purse will be $10,000 Jackson and the company left for St. Louis Sunday morning.
Parson Davis was not in Decatur Saturday night.

Mr. Mansfield To-Night.

To-night this city is to enjoy the privilege of seeing Mr. Richard Mansfield.
There is possibly not a man, woman or child in Decatur who has not heard of this great actor. Not to know him is to confess yourself ignorant. For the last ten years his name has been almost a household word, and his art, and the revolution he has effected in his art has been discussed by the public prints almost ad nauseam. Richard Mansfield is neither a comedian or a tragedian, he is simply a great actor—who makes you feel, who sways you and attracts you at will. No city is great and fine, unless like Athens and Rome, it appreciates high art, and Richard Mansfield will discover to-night that, although we are neither as great nor as famous as the ancient capitals of Greece and Rome, we are not one whit behind-hand in a keen appreciation of all that is best in art.

Mr. Mansfield will present his famous comedy of manners, "Beau Brummell." This play is undoubtedly the greatest of Mansfield's many successes, and will be presented here by special request.
